Campbell Clan Seeks 3rd Win Over Tricolor

By DICK JOSEPH
(Daily Staff Writer)

Kingston, February 13—(Special to The Daily)—The third and final hockey game of the season between McGill and Queens will be played off to-night at the Jock Hardy memorial arena with the invading Redmen highly favored to cop on the strength of their two previous overwhelming victories.

George Hale

However, anything can, and has, happened this year in intercollegiate puck circles and therefore the Campbell Clan are not taking the Gaels too lightly.

FINAL PRACTICE

The Red pucksters held a final dress rehearsal at the MacTavish rink, yesterday noon, which was attended by a cameraman in the interests of the Grantland Rice "Sportlight" series. Mentor Campbell put them through all their paces for the benefit of a celluloid presentation which will also include some shots of Les Canadiens, another hockey club about town.

With half the squad dressed in red sweaters, and the rest in white, the Martletmen looked very natty as they swept up and down the small ice surface in order to give the camera operator the opportunity to film all possible angles of our national pastime. This worthy was no little pleased with the results and pronounced it as time well spent.

PITFIELD OUT

Coach Campbell, however was not quite so happy, as he had to report the temporary loss of one of his key men and the possible non-

Hickory Artists Compete To Retain Carnival Crown

By ANDY HUGESSEN
(Daily Staff Writer)

Hanover, N.H., Feb. 13—(Special to The Daily)—The McGill ski team arrived here by car today to take part in the annual Dartmouth Winter Carnival slated to get under way tomorrow.

The skiers climbed Moose Mountain this afternoon for a practice run on the downhill course on which they race tomorrow morning. The run is unfamiliar to both Ken Thomas and John Fyler, but last month at the Middlebury meet Ken carried off top honors on the Worth downhill after only a day of practice. Don Staniforth and Art Bruneau both know this trail well having raced here last year when McGill won the Carnival championship.

The jumpers and cross country men don't swing into action until Saturday, but powerful Karre Olsen will be competing four ways as will Don Staniforth, as they vie for the individual Carnival crown.

Besides Dartmouth, traditional rivals and longtime conquerors of McGill, the Redmen will have to contend with a very strong New Hampshire squad which ended on top in the aggregate team standings at Middlebury last month.

TEN COLLEGES

Ten colleges are represented at Hanover and besides the skiing there is a hockey game and a swimming meet scheduled for Friday night. In a more festive vein an Outdoor Pageant and a formal dance are also on the agenda.

Doubleheader On Agenda for Davies' Squad

Potsdam, N.Y., February 14—While our friends south of the border are celebrating Thomas Edison's 100th anniversary, the McGill cage crew will do their best to share some of the spotlight this weekend. Clarkson and St. Lawrence offer the opposition for the Redmen, the former tonight in Potsdam, the latter on Saturday in Canton, N.Y.

TOP COMPETITION

Both teams are rated as among the tops in upper New York State and the Montreal hoopsters will have quite a battle on their collective hands. Clarkson handed the Redmen a pretty solid lacing in Montreal earlier this semester, to the tune of 72-47, and the St. Lawrence Larries took the Clarkson

Dance, Display of Gymnastics To Replace Athletics Night

Following a display of gymnastics and other sports, a dance will be held in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium tomorrow night. The evening's activities are designed to take the place of the third Athletics Night which has been cancelled. Tickets will be available at the door—prices are 50 cents plus an Athletics book coupon for students, and an additional 25 cents in lieu of the coupon, for non-students.

Athletics Night III, originally scheduled was called off due to the close proximity of the last and next sports nights.

On Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Gym, McGill's squashmen will meet Yale's; also scheduled for Saturday afternoon are badminton matches with Queen's and an inter-collegiate competition in fencing, but these events will be continued in the evening in conjunction with the gymnastic competition.

The gymnastic display is considered the most attractive feature of the evening, which is to be run as closely as possible on the lines of an Athletics Night. Dancing to the music of Hugh Lynch and his orchestra will serve to complete the activities of the evening, and will start immediately after the end of the athletics events.

Arrangements for the evening have been planned by a committee headed by Bob Forgues. The aim of this committee has been to make the entertainment an inviting substitution for the Athletics Night.

Choose Final Cast of Radio Show Tonight

The final stages of preparation for the opening of the Campus Capers show will take place over the week-end.

Tonight at 5:30 the remainder of the auditions will be held and the final cast will be chosen. A list of those who are invited to turn out by the show committee will be found on this page.

The audition will take place at the CKAC studios and further rehearsals will take place tomorrow at CJAD studios. The show will take

Famous Ski Film to Be Shown Monday

Hans Thorne's famous sound production, "A Rhapsody of Skiing," will be presented to McGill students by the M.O.C. on Monday, Feb. 17, from 5:05 to 6:30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Tickets, which went on sale yesterday will continue to be sold today.

Skiing stars featured in the $50,000 production include Rominger, Dick Mott, Barney McLean, Peggy Taylor, and Hans Thorne. To make the film, eight cameramen and staff spent two winters on four locations in the Rockies and the Swiss Alps, using 50,000 feet of film to record the skiing techniques of the professionals. Narration is in the experienced hands of Lowell Thomas and Ted Husing.

This film, of one hour and twenty minutes duration, has been shown in New York's Carnegie Hall, and in many assembly halls throughout the western States. It was found impossible to secure Moysie Hall for its showing to McGill Students.

Scholarships Offered

Each year the Province of Quebec offers a number of scholarships to enable graduates to study outside Canada. The value of each Scholarship is $1,200 and in special cases, the scholarship may be renewed for a second year.

Letters of application giving the applicant's plans for graduate work must be received by the Registrar before April 1.

Special Meeting Set Feb. 24, 3-4 p.m.; Cancel Arts Classes

Only Ticket Admittance To IRC Sponsored Talk

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a U.S. delegate to the U.N. Assembly, first Chairman of the Division of Human Rights, will speak at McGill on Monday, February 24. The meeting is under the sponsorship of the International Relations Club of the university, who have been greatly assisted in this undertaking by the United Nations Society of Canada and by the university authorities.

It has not yet been decided whether to hold the meeting in Moysie Hall or the Currie gymnasium, both of which have been offered the club by the university. Admittance to the meeting will be by invitation

Creative Writing Prize Offered

The Chester MacNaughton Prize is being offered again for the best piece of creative writing submitted by a McGill student. The prize, which may be divided, has at present, a value of seventy dollars. Untidy manuscripts will not be accepted and the material which may be in verse or prose may be fiction, drama or essay, should be carefully selected.

Compositions that have appeared in print since March 1st 1946 are eligible. Entries that win prizes or honorable mention will be retained by the university and filed in Redpath Library.

The judges are appointed by the University Scholarship Committee which also decides all questions concerning eligibility. Compositions must be typed or printed and must reach the Registrar on or before March 15, 1947.

Moore-Glew Win at Bridge

Marjorie Moore and Crawford Glew were the winners of the mixed pairs tournament sponsored by the McGill Duplicate Bridge Club on Wednesday night. Play was very close and was conducted on Mitchell Movement basis. The winners led the East-West section with 47½ points.

The top team in the North-South section was that of Dave Thurber and Agnes Blackwell. Second in East-West were Franks and Twinning; in North-South, Eadie and Rainey.

The complete results follow:

North-South
Thurber-Blackwell	42
Eadie-Rainey	41
Thorp-Morris	40½
Bancroft-McKay	38½
Jones-Portugal	39
Purdie-Purdie	38

Glew-Moore	47½
Franks-Twinning	42½
Gilmour-Moulton	40½
Oliver-Nelson	39½
Bindman-Smith	39
Cambridge-Cambridge	30

and by ticket, only, it was learned. Members of the club will receive the first tickets, and the balance will be distributed among the students at large, so long as they are available. Distribution will commence next week.

A spokesman for the executive of the club announced that no persons off the campus, other than specially invited guests, will be able to attend the meeting, as it is intended that the event be strictly a university student affair.

LECTURES CANCELLED
Dean Cyrus MacMillan has announced last lectures in Arts and Science between three and four p.m. on the twenty-fourth, the time at which Mrs. Roosevelt will speak, are to be cancelled. It is hoped that other faculties will be able to do likewise.

New Class Pins for R.V.C. Graduates Now Available

A special pin for all women students at McGill may now be ordered by signing one of the lists in the Arts Building, Strathcona Hall, R.V.C., A.N.A. House, or MacLennan Hall, or by contacting any of the class presidents.

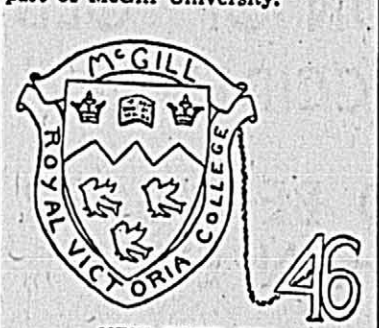

Coads will recall the pin design contest sponsored by the Women's Union before Christmas, in order to choose a pin which will be worn by all women graduates. The winning design by John Gilchrist, Law 2, is reproduced here. The scrolls are to be of plain yellow gold with raised lettering; the crest is in red and white enamel to be superimposed on the scrolls, thus raising it slightly; the chain and guard are also in yellow gold.

Students ordering the pin are reminded to specify the year, e.g. 46, 47, 48, etc., since orders will be taken for all years. The cost will be $3.87, payable when the pin is received early in May. All names should be in by Wednesday, Feb. 19.

This is the first time that there has been a special R.V.C. pin for all coeds. Thus all women graduates from McGill henceforth will wear the same pin, with only the guard being altered each year.

It was pointed out that "the pin combines aspects of the crests on the doors of the Royal Victoria College in the scroll work and in the general shape with the crest of McGill University thus making it a suitable symbol of R.V.C. as a part of McGill University."

NEW COED PIN

For the information of those wishing to contact their class presidents they are as follows: first year, Natalie Fochs; second year, Rosalind Cohen; third year, Pauline Humphreys and fourth year, Joan Mason.

W. Robertson To Discuss Radio Work

Warren Robertson, chief announcer at radio station CKVL and announcer of several American network shows, will be the first speaker in a series of lectures on radio being sponsored by the McGill Radio Workshop.

Instituted to cover the demand of increased interest in radio affairs on the campus, the new series will feature talks from prominent radio personalities in Montreal. The first meeting, at which Warren Robertson will be the guest speaker, will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the Union Music room and will be open to all students on the campus.

The topic of this week's program will be a discussion on radio opportunities in Canada as well as a close examination of radio announcing.

Mr. Robertson has had wide experience in both practical and educational radio. He is well known for his keen wit and acute interest in embryo radio performers. During the war Mr. Robertson lectured on psychology of salesmanship and is considered an authority in this field.

Another feature of this Saturday's meeting will be a preliminary casting for the epic radio drama from the pen of Archibald MacLeish, "The Fall of the City." So wide is the appeal for this type of production that it has become a compulsory study in some high school literature courses.

The cast required is extremely large and a large attendance is necessary. The production will be under the supervision of Arthur Garmale and will be recorded for study purposes in the near future. Concurrently, production director Gerald Charnass will continue rehearsals with the final cast of the workshop's "Campus Capers" broadcast series.

PC's Discuss Bill of Rights

"The demand for a Bill of Rights in Canada has been strikingly demonstrated by the flood of correspondence and messages which have been received since it was first proposed at the last session of Parliament," said John G. Diefenbaker, who is sponsoring the Bill at the present session of parliament, during his remarks at an informal meeting of the Progressive Conservative Club yesterday afternoon. He added that there is a very definite need for such a bill to place the fundamental rights of the Canadian people in such a position that they can not be amended by parliament.

The speaker voiced a strong appeal to young men at college to

French Ambassador Heads List Of McGill Mardi Gras Patrons

His Excellency, Count Jean de Hauteclouque, Ambassador of France, and the Countess de Hauteclouque have extended their patronage to the Mardi Gras Ball, as have Principal F. Cyril James and Mrs. James; the French Consul-General, P. Negrier and Mrs. Negrier; vice-principal A. H. S. Gillson; The Dean of Women Dr. Muriel Roscoe; Dean Cyrus MacMillan and Mrs. MacMillan; Dean L. Thomson and Mrs. Thomson; Dean C. S. Lemesurier and Mrs. Lemesurier; the French Vice-Consul R. Victor and Mrs. Victor; the President of the Save the Children Fund in Quebec, Professor W. L. G. Williams and Mrs. Williams; The Director of the Department of Romance Languages, Professor Jean Launay and Mrs. Launay.

The Mardi Gras costume ball will take place on Tuesday, February 18 in the Union Ballroom, commencing at 9 p.m. and will feature the music of Archie Etienne and his orchestra.

The ball has been designed to revive at McGill the spirit of Mardi

Gras, especially famous throughout Europe, and South America. On this continent people are better acquainted with tales of carnival gaiety in New Orleans, where celebrations take place each year. McGill's Mardi Gras ball is essentially a costume affair; and prizes are being offered for the best costume and for the most original one. However, realizing the difficulties of renting or making costumes, the executive has announced that formal dress will be acceptable, although it is hoped that the majority of the participants will endeavor to be costumed.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion will be Xavier Villatte-Battet, a former naval officer with

A Study of Intolerance

The Ottawa Citizen is rapidly achieving a reputation in journalistic circles for liberal editorials that reflect the highest traditions of the fourth estate. We have on previous occasions passed on to the student body their opinions on certain subjects and we feel that a recent editorial on "The Study of Intolerance" is one meriting general consideration.

The editorial pointed out that studies of the development and cure of religious bigotry, bias and prejudices are to be undertaken by several American universities. The problem will be attacked on scientific lines based on the assumption that people who succumb to various prejudices are actually mentally sick and suffering from emotional illnesses, with the solution to be achieved by finding a cure for these ailments.

Intolerance has been inherent in human beings from the time that man developed the capacity to think beyond the mere immediate satisfaction of his animal wants. According to the Citizen's editorial, intolerance is linked with the magical assumptions and practices which existed in primitive tribes. These beliefs and actions were of such a nature that they alone were "right" and all others were "wrong." Despite the fact that most of these earlier myths and fantasies were cast aside, this guiding principle was carried into the practice of religion as it grew in our Western civilization.

These intolerances and failure to respect the rights of our fellow men exist today as strongly as ever, despite frequent attempts to assure ourselves that we are "civilized" beings capable of logical processes of thought. Listening to almost any argument will prove this statement, for despite the fact that almost all questions can easily be settled in good temper and good taste, we find the participants giving vent to emotional utterances which they attempt to cover with an air of rationality.

The task to be undertaken by the various universities is an enormous one and will undoubtedly involve a good deal of time before any results may be forthcoming. The mental illnesses which underlie prejudice have increased as our society has become more complex and aggravating, and should these investigators achieve their aim of finding a remedy for them, they undoubtedly would become the world's greatest benefactors.

It is indeed a sad commentary on our present society that man who has learned how to divide material into its essential unit—the atom—has not as yet been able to devise an effective method for uniting with his fellow human beings to achieve common goals, or of understanding why his brother man should be allowed to blow his nose in a different fashion from his own.

THE MORAL THE MERRIER
Norm 'n Jack had just finished helping Vern Quinn finish up his first script for Monday's Campus Capers show. They were feeling very sad because his work on the Comedy show script was so much superior than their script, which will be heard on a future Monday night at 9:05 over CJAD. They were feeling sad. And sadder. And sadder. (Strange, it was Wednesday, not Saturday.) To try and drown their sorrows, they went next door to see Andre. They drank. And drank. And drank. The more they drank the happier the grew.

The moral: The more — ale the merrier.

My brother was killed by a weasel. He was walking along the railroad tracks and he didn't hear the weasel.
"Oh, darling, I've missed you." And she raised her revolver and tried again.
He was a bottle baby until his fifth year. Then he pushed out the cork and escaped.
"We'll have to rehearse that," said the undertaker, as the coffin fell out of the car.
"How did you get that bump on your head?"
"I was playing pick-a-back with my baby son and I fell off."
"Why did the chicken cross the road?"
"To get to McGill's new live comedy show Campus Capers, originating in the Union Ball Room, Monday nite. Doors close 8:30."

RECORD REVIEWS

Vox Album of Russian Piano Music
Among recent recordings by Vox is a representative album of old and new Russian Piano Music admirably interpreted by Shura Cherkassky, young Russian-American pianist. Included in the older works is a fiery Tarantelle by Glinka. Given a clean, rhythmic interpretation, it is music in the typical Italian style dominating Russian music at the time. Also finely interpreted with clear, singing line are the melancholy Prelude for the left hand alone by Scriabin and Fairy Tale in E minor by Medtner. The Fairy Tale has been recorded previously by Medler, and Moisevitich. The well-known Music by Lisadov is played with enthusiasm and colour. Tchaikowsky's Autumn Song completes the list of the more or less Romantic works.

Outstanding performances in the modern group include a scintillating performance of a brilliant Toccata by the Armenian composer, Khachaturian, and Suggestion Diabolique by Prokofiev, in both of which, the pianistic difficulties are handled with superlative ease. Like the Fairy Tale, this latter piece has also been recorded by it's composer and by Moisevitich. Shostakovich's scraps for piano—two Preludes in C sharp and D major — are tossed off with a rather affected flourish. Finally there is Rebikov's unpretentious and rather pale "Christmas Tree".

The recording is generally excellent, but there are moments when the tone in the upper register becomes brittle, and the low register is not altogether free from a rather nebulous quality. But to those interested in the development of Russian piano music from Glinka to Shostakovich, and also in some extremely fine piano playing, this excellent album is highly recommended.

"POPS"
COUNT BASIE
Open the door, Richard!
This is the Count's first waxing for the Victor label, and a very good choice for his debut in that company. This is what might be termed a novelty number, as all of it is vocal, by Harry Edlin, not singing, but a monologue. Through the whole length of the record, the Count, on piano, with the rhythm section provides a good jump background, which, however is not too loud to influence the quality of Harry Edlin's comical story of Richard. On the other side there is a blues sung by Ann Moore: "Me and the Blues." With good band backing the vocal is reasonably well sung, although it does not reach the high standards set by other female vocalists. (Victor 20-2127).

PHIL HARRIS
That's what I like about the South
An original by Phil Harris, it is a number in much the same style as the famous "Dark Town Poker Club." The vocal is excellent, and rhythmically perfect, although there is not much tune to it. Background by the orchestra is very monotonous, but in spite of that it is a good side, and will do well as a specimen of Phil Harris work in any record collection. "If you're ever down in Texas," another number with a vocal by the bandleader.

Music Notes
Nestor Chayres
Last night a Plateau Hall audience had the opportunity to hear one of the finest tenors to visit this city in a long time. Nestor Chayres presented a programme consisting mostly of lighter concert music and popular encores. Singing in four languages, the soloist proved himself worthy of the loud huzzahs and enthusiastic applause of a small but highly appreciative audience. The performer has a light voice which he used to good effect in a programme of carefully chosen selections.

The singer sang seemingly effortlessly and with fine expression but at times one was reminded of the sobs and sighs that have marked the career of Gigli. All of his selections were equally excellently performed with Martin's Plaisir D'Amour, Padilla's Princepsita, two de Falla songs and Aquel Sombrero de Monte by Obradors the ones the audience seemed to take to the most. The singer seemed willing to offer encores. The audience drank them in and kept asking for more.

Another outstanding feature of the recital was the superb accompaniments of the pianist, Pablo Miquel, who has been here before and from whom we have come to expect fine, discreet, and understanding performances.

The Movies
AT THE KENT
Showing at the Kent Theatre this week is an excellent "March of Time," an amusing cartoon of our old friend "Donald Duck" and several other shorts. Supporting is "The Way to the Stars" which, owing to the brevity of time remaining, has been cut to measure. It has been cut, need I say, want only and unimaginatively. Much of the coherence of the story has been lost, and the remaining scenes have become meaningless. The critic finds himself bewildered, and is compelled to ask the purpose of this. Not only is it an insult to the film distributors but also to the intelligence of the audience. What was, when I saw its initial showing in England, a closely-knit film has degenerated, in the hands of the unknown Deillah, into a mere anthology of brief scenes. Notwithstanding it is still worth seeing for the superb acting, the unaffected humour, the reading of two poems by John Pudney, and the unobtrusive but excellent incidental music by Nicholas Brodsky.

B. S.

being in waltz time it can be danced to. The flipover has an arrangement of V. Monti's Hungarian dance, which now goes under the name of Casardas. It features some good piano and violin, but is another item in the lunch-concert library. It is a modern arrangement of classical music that is good, but by no means outstanding. (Victor 20-0076).

Fencing and Gymnastics in Currie Gym Saturday Nite

McGill Pellet Pulverizers Meet Yale Squad Saturday Afternoon

THE DAY: Saturday. THE TIME: 2.30 p.m. THE PLACE: Squash courts, Sir Arthur Currie gym. THE TEAMS: McGill Redmen vs. Yale Bulldogs. YALE'S REPUTATION: Terrific! YALE'S RECORD: 7 wins, 0 defeats. MCGILL'S RECORD: 6 wins, 2 defeats. THE RESULT: Win, lose or draw an exceptional squash match. MCGILL'S SPIRIT: Terrific!!!

HIGH GEAR
The McGill boys are geared up to top pitch for their forthcoming match with Yale as they go full out to pull the biggest upset of the year. Although McGill undoubtedly has the best record any team has ever had in its first year of intercollegiate competition it can't touch the Blue and White this season. They have not only won all their matches but have done so in no uncertain manner. Below are the season's results which bear out this statement.

Yale 7, Pennsylvania 0.
Yale 9, Dartmouth 0.
Yale 8, Williams 0.
Yale 8, Army 1.
Yale 4, Purdue 1.
Yale 7, Princeton 2.
McGill 5, Amherst 0.
McGill 4, Dartmouth 3.
McGill 5, M.I.T. 0.
McGill 4, Williams 1.
McGill 1, Army 4.
McGill 4, M.I.T. 1.
McGill 7, Varsity 0.
McGill 2, Harvard 3.

ALL-VETERAN SQUAD
McGill's all-veteran nine man team is very likely equalled by Yale who have seven lettermen from former Yale teams. In fact their captain, Peter Philip, who was elected last year, could not make the squad and will only be along as a spare. The two most feared men in intercollegiate circles are playing 1-2 on the squad in the persons of Carter Ferguson and Doug Kerr who, although he is not a football coach, wields a mean racket.

In the number three slot is Bruce Bayne who reached the finals of the intercollegiate invitation in New York against Pete Landry. Their coach is popular John Skillman, former American Professional Champion and foremost volleyball in the game. John wrote a handbook on squash a few years back which is considered by many to be the finest on the subject. Anyone interested in priming his game up to making the McGill team next year would do well to read Johnny's book called "Squash Racquets".

Yale's travelling squad reaches the proportions of a basketball outfit with thirteen men coming to Montreal. This consists of the nine man team, one spare, the manager, the coach and his son.

THE DRAW
The opening matches at two thirty, if the Yale order, stays as announced, will see Don Farlinger vs. Bruce Bayne, Andy LeMesurier vs. Karl Badger and Dennis Stairs. Continued on Page 4.

Red Mat Men At Plattsburg

The McGill "grunt and groaner" wrestlers, that is, are going "south of the border" to do battle with the muscle men from Champlain College in their first official intercollegiate competition. The festivities are slated to get underway at 3 p.m. in Plattsburg, Saturday.

"STRONG MEN"
Coach Frank Saxon has quite an impressive array of competitors. At 125-lbs., there is Don Hillman, while at 135, we find Sherwin Raymond, one of the top men. Stafford will engage in the 145-lb. class, and Tex Dawson is the 155-lb. threat. Rounding out this top notch squad, there are Jim McLeod, 165-lb., Avison at 175, and rugged Wally Kowal in the 190-lb. class. Kowal and Raymond, by the way, won championships in the Canadian Intercollegiate competition last year. The team will leave by car at 7 a.m. Saturday morning.

Red and White Squads Face Varsity Teams in Both Sports For Collegiate Championships

Cochrane, King Lead Gymnasts In Crucial Test

McGill takes on Toronto Varsity in the annual gymnastics contest between the two universities, Saturday night starting at 8.00 p.m. in the Sir Arthur Currie Gym. This will be the third intercollegiate competition scheduled for Saturday with the squash and badminton men taking the floor before them. The Redmen face a tough test since the blue and white took all honours last year in this field.

FOSTER MISSING
The McGill squad will be composed of Art Henderson, Doug Marsland, Hadley Armstrong, Frank Barrett, Don Cochrane and Jack King. John Foster, who usually forms a member of this sextet, is away at Hanover this weekend, competing in the Dartmouth Winter Carnival. He is one of the jumpers, upon whom the McGill ski squad has pinned their hopes.

All six members have been prominent in McGill gymnast circles during the past few years. Don Cochrane recently appeared in a picture in the McGill Daily, which unfortunately was printed upside down. He was caught in the act of doing a fly-away from the rings.

GAELS NOT HERE
It was hoped earlier in the year that Queens would elect to send a team to Montreal for this important competition, but for various reasons the Golden Gaels will not be represented.

The five pieces of apparatus used in this set-to will be the high bar, parallel bars, side horse, rings, and those always useful mats. All members of the Red team are familiar with each apparatus, but the following men have been selected for each event. Art Henderson and Frank Barrett will strut their stuff on the side horse, while Don Cochrane and Jack King perform on the rings. All these four competitors will show on the mats and the whole team takes part in the contests on the high bar and parallel bars.

Alkies Win 3-2 To Lead Floor Hockey Series

By GRIFF
More than 500 wildly cheering fans had plenty to yell about at Dawson last night as Alkies defeated Bearcats 3-2 in the third game of the floor hockey finale.

It was really a playoff game fought every angle, as the teams battled all out to take this crucial contest. The win gave Alkies a 2-1 edge in the 3 of 5 finals.

BROOKIE TOPS
Russ Brookie is fast gaining the reputation of being the crack floor hockey player at Dawson and this would be hard to refute after his showing last night. The burly Alkie rearguard was the big star of the game. With Bearcats leading 2-1 in the final period Brookie counted twice to give his team the edge, and on defence he was the big stumbling block to the Flying Frenchmen.

Another star was Bill Grant in the Bearcats' cage; he handled 25 shots as against 7 for Chubby Kent in the Alkies net. Jim Knubley denied the twine in the first period to put the Alkies one up, and Gerard Gosselin tied the count in the middle session.

PICTURE PLAY
El Wison scored a beautiful goal early in the final period for Bearcats, shifting and stickhandling through the Alkie defence. Then Brookie took over and his two goals gave Alkies their margin of victory.

"Shorty" Caron, Fern Paquette, and Fred Hoar, played a hard game for Bearcats, while Harry Leavitt and Jim Knubley were conspicuous for the winners' attack. "Hutch" Hutchison, Jack Goldwater and Randy Headley did the officiating in the gruelling struggle.

Local Mermen Swim Against Amherst Here

The McGill swimmers will try to get back into the winning column on Saturday afternoon when they tackle the Amherst team, who hail from Massachusetts, U.S.A. Their appearance in our fair city marks a precedent, for they are the first American team to compete against McGill in Montreal. The present Red squad is trying to build up relations with their mermen cousins across the border, so that when McGill has its own pool, swimming will become as popular as squash has become in recent years.

AT N.D.G. POOL
The meet is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. on Saturday at the N.D.G. pool (at the corner of Decarie and Cote St. Antoine Road).

Last year McGill defeated Amherst 41-36, taking five first places in nine events. But the "Yanks" are said to be much stronger this year boasting such men as Sylvester, backstroke; Butler, for middle distance events; Ostow and Jones, sprinters; and Kellie and Rogers, divers.

MCGILL STRONG
McGill will have one of its best teams on hand for the competition, and although they have not done any too well against other American opposition, they have drowned all local talent. Leading the Redmen will be diver George Athans, unbeaten in a dual meet, who is Dominion diving champion and Intercollegiate diving champion. Jim Quayle, Intercollegiate free style champion, will be competing in the 100-yard free style event, and along with him will be Gerry Cooper.

Sprinters Dick Fullerton and "Lightning" Elder will be out to cop the 50-yard free style honors. Dick will also give George a helping hand in the diving event. Other men taking part will be Christie and Hope swimming backstroke, and Walford and Errington in the breaststroke events. Middle distance men will be Elliot Young, who is definitely Olympic material, Manny Hoffman, Norm Ashton, and Ernie Taylor.

The meet should be a close one from the opening gun until the final whistle. So, come on Red team!

Swordsmen Vie To Foil Blues For Trophies

The Intercollegiate Fencing Tournament takes place this Saturday, February 15, in the Currie Gym., when McGill will meet Toronto for the Charles Walters Trophies.

The fencing on Saturday will be presented in a split program. The Foil and Duelling Sword events will be fenced off on Saturday afternoon commencing at 2 p.m. The Sabre bouts will take place at 8 o'clock Saturday night as part of the athletics program. All events will take place in the large Gym.

THE COACH
George Tully, the McGill coach, is confident that his team will be able to capture the team championship again this year and will take the Individual Championship Trophy away from Conn of Toronto as well.

THE TEAM
Bob Moffatt, the captain of the team, began fencing last year and was a member of last year's Championship team. He was McGill champion in two weapons in 1946 and was a finalist in the Provincial Senior Foil and Epee championship tournaments of last year. Peter Eakins began fencing in 1945 and was captain of last year's championship team. Peter was the Provincial Novice Sabre, Champ in 1946 and this year captured the Prov. Novice Foil championship. He was also a finalist in the Senior Sabre tournament.

THE CHAMP?
Len Druckman began his fencing in 1945 and was runner-up to the Intercollegiate Individual Champion in Toronto last year. Len was the Prov. Novice Foil champion in 1946 and was a finalist in the novice tournaments in the other two weapons. Georges-Aime Pouliot is the member of the team to watch this year. Georges began his fencing late last year and reached the finals in the Provincial Novice Epee and Sabre and in the Prov. Senior Foil tournaments held in 1946. He is the McGill three weapon champion of this year.

Come out students and support your team. You will not be disappointed in the calibre of the fencing you will witness.

Art Shama, senior basketball manager, has announced that the senior cagers will leave for Potsdam today, in two cars, which will leave from the Sir Arthur Currie Gym at 12.30 and 2.00 p.m. The following players are asked to be at the gym before 12.30: Davidson, Fraser, Roth, Duford, Hoyle. The men who will travel in the 2.00 p.m. car are: Davine, Moffatt, Kaszas, Bloom, and Schacter.

Badminton Competition to Begin With Tricolor Aggregate Demean

The first in a series of competitions for the intercollegiate badminton championship is scheduled to be run off in the Sir Arthur Currie Gym Saturday afternoon when McGill meets Queens in the semi-final. The winner of this contest is scheduled to travel to London two weeks hence to meet Western for the top honors in collegiate circles.

The matches, which are composed of five singles and four doubles matches, are slated to start at 2.00 p.m. It is not sufficient in the afternoon, the doubles matches will be run off in the evening in conjunction with the other athletic exhibitions.

SQUAD NAMED
Coach Doug Grant, former Dominion Badminton and Squash champion, and also McGill's coach in the bird game, has announced the Redmen's team. Gordie Simpson of Dawson College, and also a member of the M.A.A.A., will team with Ron Dussault to form the first doubles combination. In addition Simpson will take the first singles slot for this important contest.

The other four singles positions will be contested by Ron Dussault, member of last year's team, Bart Love, Lorne McKeown and Art Townsend in that order. Rumor has it that Ron Dawson, who carries the name of his Alma Mater in St. John's, will be the sixth member of the squad. Love and McKeown will be the able doubles assistants to the first string duo of Simpson and Dussault.

The Queens team will be hampered by the loss of Leon Payette last year's spearhead of the delegation. Since play last night was cancelled due to the A.C.S. formal, all nine courts will be available tonight for practice.

Pucksters In Ice Action

Dawson meets Macdonald and McGill takes on Bishops in the intermediate intercollegiate hockey games scheduled for this weekend. The Dawson men boasting a 3 game winning streak and playing on their home ice are favourites to take their tilt against Mac and retain league leadership. The Dawsonites have already beaten McGill twice by 2-1 and 4-1 scores.

DAWSON EXHIBITION
Last Wednesday night Dawson, who were last year's champions, edged out Bedford 3-2 in one of the contests which Em. Orlick had arranged for his proteges. This was sweet revenge for the Red and Blue men since this same team had beaten them 7-2 earlier on in the season. "Alderman" Woodward was the spark of the team when they were trailing 2-0 with only 10 minutes left in the game. He scored the first goal on a shot from the blue line and team mates Red Henderson and "Rocket" Bojich chipped in with tallies for the win.

The Bishops team comes to Montreal to challenge a McGill team with a 2 win and 3 loss record. The Redmen have taken Bishops once before by an 8-2 count and also have scalped the Georgians 13-4. On the other side of the ledger are two defeats at the hands of Dawson and one loss to a powerful Macdonald entry.

Should Pettit's bad knee keep him out of action, his spot will be filled by young Jimmy Atkinson, who has shuttled back and forth between the seniors and intermediates. The newest addition to the squad, Keith English, will patrol the right wing lane with the Hale brothers, a position which has been a question mark all year since the loss of Reg. Sinclair.
